On the first day of the new “grape escape” experience, guests will depart by helicopter and soar over the rugged Alpine range to a wine-growing region called Bündner Herrschaft in the northern most corner of Graubünden. Known as the home of Heidi the children's book character, the region produces over 50 types of wine. Guests will explore the local vineyards and wineries with a private guide, before enjoying a wine tasting and pairing.

The next day, guests will be driven an hour and a half along the beautiful Bernina Pass to Valtellina in northern Italy. The region is best known for its cherry-scented bottles that come from the Nebbiolo grape. Guests will explore the winery and indulge in a picnic spread of local produce paired with homegrown wine. Back at the Palace, guests can explore the distinguished wine cellar with more than 30,000 bottles of champagne and wines from all over the world, and have a sip or two in the cozy 'Krug Stübli' chalet.

Pricing: The Grape Escape starts from CHF 8,500 including lunch and wine tasting for two, a helicopter transfer, Rolls Royce transfer and all vineyard tours.
